Two Elderly Ladies Catching Up

Two elderly ladies have been friends for decades. Over the years, they partook in many activities and adventures together. Lately, their activities have been limited to meeting a few times a week to play cards.

One day when they were playing cards, one looked at the other and said: "Now don't get mad at me – I know we've been friends for a long time, but I just can't think of your name. I've thought and thought, but I can't remember it. Please tell me what it is."

Her friend glared at her for a few minutes before replying, "How soon do you need to know?"

The Traffic Report

A man was listening to the radio when the traffic report came on.

"There's a car driving the wrong way on the motorway, causing mayhem in both directions," the radio announcer warned. "Police advise avoiding the area."

The man then realized that his wife was planning to take the motorway to an appointment, so he quickly phoned her to warn her via her in-car mobile.

"Darling, please drive carefully because I just heard that there's a car heading the wrong way down the motorway," the man said when his wife picked up the phone.

"Oh, I know," answered his wife. "There's not just one, there's hundreds of them!"
