Dear Mike,

I am pleased to announce that the Council of the American Meteorological Society approved the recommendation of Gabrielle Brown as the recipient of the 2022 AMS Naval Weather Service Association Senior Undergraduate Scholarship and Jacob Widanski as the recipient of the 2022 Naval Weather Service Association Freshman Undergraduate Scholarship. Gabrielle will be entering her final year of undergraduate study at the Northern Vermont University-Lyndon and is majoring in atmospheric science. She is interested in climate change. Jacob will be entering his freshman year at the University of Oklahoma and will major in meteorology. He is interested in machine learning and mesoscale meteorology. They are absolutely outstanding students and received strong recommendations from their faculty advisors. I have enclosed contact information for both students.

The recipients will be announced in the September issue of the Bulletin of the AMS (BAMS). A copy of the announcement will mail to you as soon as it is published this fall. We will also announce the awards at the 103rd AMS Annual Meeting in Denver, Colorado. The meeting is scheduled to take place during the week of 8 January - 12 January 2023. We hope that you will be able to join us in Denver. The scholarship and fellowship students will also be invited. We will be happy to let you know if your student is able to attend.

Again, on behalf of AMS, thank you for your support. Please do not hesitate to call me with any questions. I can be reached at AMS headquarters in Boston, (617) 226-3901.

Best regards,

Stella Kafka
Executive Director
